THE ADV NT OF THIRTES. Two Residences Rifled and All the Valua-bles in Sight Carried Off-A Comple of Incidents that Recall the Hoft-valced Surgiar and the Black Stoop.

The summer residents of Southampton had no aubject of conversation last Sunday beyond the successful debut of a company of burglars who were first heard from on Saturday night. The news of the two robberies which marked their arrival spread about early on Sundar, and on the beach, at the Casino, and on the way to and from church thore were knots of people discussing the burgiarles. Southampton's quiet existence is not often disturbed by such events. While Stockbri ge and Lenox suffered last autumn from the visits of the " soft-voiced gentlemanly burglar " and " the black sloop " menaced the summer houses along the Sound, Southampton tranquilly read of these things in the newspapers, and thanked its stars that rebbers never came down there.

Now, the season is no scener opened than

Southampton wakes up to find itself "burglarfred" in the most artistic, skilful manner, with such consummate finish that the soft-voiced thief in the Berkshire Hills seems to have been a crude burgiar in comparison. It was not the country store or the summer bank or the Post Office which these Southampton robbers selected as the means of their first appearance in the town. Two of the handsomest homes, occupied by two of the wealthiest residents. were visited; and the jobs were done up, moreover, with such completeness and finish that the Bouthampton Bank did a rushing business yesterday, and propably not a cottager in own ver was boxed up and sent into the safe deposits in town, and the princ pai store sold out its stock of firearms before 12 o'clock. Southampton is preparing itself for the burglars, and has moreover offered $1,000 reward for their arrest and conviction.

The two men whose houses were robbed—sx-Park Commissioner balem H. Wales and ex-Judge Horace itussell—attended the meeting and subscribed to the fund, and among others who wanted to take time by the forelock were Park Commissioner Edward Hell, George Schieffelin, Samuel L. Parrish, Walter Oakman, and ex-Judge Henry C. Howland. The meeting was held at Alexander L. Morton's house.

Oakman, and ex-Judge Henry C. Howland. The meeting was held at Alexander L. Morton's house.

The burglars celebrated their arrival by rifling ex-Judge Russell's and Mr. Wales's residence. I ach 'ouse was very adrolly entered, and the thieves engaged in both robberies escaped without attracting attention. Their work showed that they were professionals, not the casual thieves of a country town, and it is believed that a gang has come down from New York.

The robbery of Mr. Wales's house, it is supposed, occurred early in the evening, and dudge Horace Russell thinks that it was daylight before the thieves reached his residence. He was awakened by his buttler shortly before to celeck on Sunday morning with the announcement from the frightened man that lurglars had been in the house. The Judge went down to the dining room and dis overed the drawers of the buffet open and one of them gone. All the solid silver had been taken, and the missing drawer contained the cuitery. This was plated silver, and the burglars had taken the drawer into the laundry yard at the year of the house. Some of the pieces were bent to feet them, and when they were found to be plated the drawer and its contents were left behind. A bandle, still turning, was found in a room adjoining the dining room. The hack doors of the house were standing open. Judge Russell thinks that the thieves entered through the celiar window. He estimates his loss at about $5004.

back doors of the house were standing open. Judge Riu-sell thinks that the thieves entered through the cellar window. He estimates his loss at about $500, Ex-Park Commissioner Salem H. Wales had a visit from the thieves earlier on Saturday nig t. He is alone in his house, his family being away. When he retired his watch was placed on a table near the ted. His shirt, containing a fine set of stude, and the rest of his elothes, were laid on a chair. When he awoke on Sinday morning he discovered that his watch was issing. The stude had been taken out of his shirt and $40 from his pocket-look. The thief entered through a window in the kitchen which is usually kept closed. The railroad tickets and papers in the pocketbook were not disturbed.

The theory of the victims is that the burg'ars have either come down from the city and taken a house near Southampton, or that they are on a boat and anchored in Peconic Bay. But this is conjecture, and Southampton, having sent its money to the bank and its silver hack to New York, is anxiously wondering whose turn will come next. If the thieves are caught there, somebody will get the $1,000 reward, and Southampton will find out how burglars ever harpened to visit such a quiet place.

DEIVES OUT OF BED BY FIRE.

Jacob Epstein's Arms Were Caught on Meat Hooks when He Jumped in Excaping. The twent -four tenants of 150 Division street were driven ut of their beds at 1 o'clock yesterday morning by a fire which began in the cellar under samuel Brodie's saloon. Jacob Epstein, a Jewish tailor, and his wife and 14year-old son att mpted to get down by the fire secape, which did not reach below the e-cond story. Epstein jumped and was caught by the arms on the metal hooks outside the butcher sho below. He hung there by the arms fully half a minute. Then the hooks fore out of his flesh and he fell upon the sidewalk. He was sent to Gouverneur Hospital.

His wife climbed over the railing of the fire of th trouble. The son as the roof in their night clother and accaped into a neighboring house. Lens appleston burned one of her hands badly. The fire was put out without much trouble. The loss was estimated at only $1.800, but I included all the possessions of some of the tensula. They were sven obliged to borrow clothing from neighbors.

The Second Wife Gets the Estate, Judge O'Brien of the Supreme Court has dismissed the complaint in the suit which was brought by Mrs. Annie Brown to recover from her stepmother. Mary McCormick, about $10,000, all the property which her father, Peter McCormick, possessed, and which he riago to her and also bequeathed to her by his will. Immediately after the death of his first wile hecormick was stricken with paralysis. It condition improved somewhat and he married Mary liast. He was then about if years old and she about 34. A few days i sfore their marriage he transferred all his estate to her. He deed in sea than three months after the marriage, leaving a will under the provisions of which the gift was abought to be secured to his wife thus depriving the four children of his first marriage of any share in his estate.

Judge O'B ien sa a that he regrets that he is unable to find elegal grounds upon which relief can be granted to the ideaughter, but upon the "vidence before him he concludes that the old man understood what he was doriage to her and also bequeathed to her by

FOR KILLING KATIR RUPP. Bernhard Altenberger Placed on Trial Yesterday in Jersey City,

Bernhard Altenberger was put on trial yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Jersey City, for the murder of Katie Bupp at Snake Hill on Sunday, May 13. Justice Lip-pincott and Lay Judge Kenney were on the bench. The prisoner's lawyers are Norman L. Rowe, Max Salinger, and James N. Furey. District Attorney Winfield represents the State. Altenberger is very boyish looking, and has was brought back by the detectives from Utlea. where he was captured.
At the beginning Mr. Rowe applied for a postponement, on the ground that the defence had been unable to secure the attendance of material witnesses, and he submitted an affi-davit by Mr. Salinger, one of his associates, ity, and that two of the material witnesses were the defendant's mother and a doctor. both now in Germany. The proclamation of the President published this morning strengthened the conviction of Wall street that the lawlessness a: Chicago and throughout the West is the most serious that the country ever witnessed. There was in consequence some liquidation by timid speculative holders of stocks, and their operations uncovered a number of stop or lers tha accelerated the progress of prices toward a lower level in the early dealings. Chicago Gas was particularly weak, declining nearly 3 points from the opening, but it subsequently recovered, so that the net loss it sustained was less than I F cent. The effective selling was upon the theory that the profits of the enterprise might be affected adversely by the insurrection at Chicago. At the decline the buying was of a character that led the trading -le ent to abandon that view. Besides, the entire list was affected favorably in the late trading by advices from Chicago hat seemed to indicate a collapse of the uprising of Anarchists under the guise of a strike of organized labor.

The heaviest dealings were in Sugar Refining, and they resulted in a net advance of 1% is cent. The lowest price for this stock was made at the opening. After that the speculation in it was influenced by the idea. encouraged from Washington, that it will be impossible to pass a Tariff bill that does not include autatantially the Senate augur schedule. The indications are that three or four weeks will pass before the pending fariff measure will be disposed of, and until it is both business and speculation are likely to be held in check, no matter what the outcome of the so-called labor troubles may be. Professional traders, who for a me time past have practically made the stock market, felt their way to-day on the strike news. At the decline that took place in the forenoon a good many shorts were covered, and then, as the advices from Chicago continued encouraging, a disposition to ven ture on the long side of the market became apparent. In consequence the majority of the list closed slightly higher than on Saturday. One of the features of the day was a further hardening of the market for foreign exchange. Hankers are very rejuctant to draw bills in the face of reduced exports of produce caused by the interruption to railway traffic in the West. The inquiry from remitters was not large, but should the demand increase for the midweek and Saturday's steamers, another outflow of specie would follow. It is connected, however, that such a movement would only be temporary, and would subside as soon as normal conditions prevail. Final sales compare with these of Saturday of the affairs of the Trust constituted for the benefit of the Bondholders. That examination discloses the fa that accuration which were deposited in the Trust have been taken therefrom. Remarkable as this statement may seem, it is established by incentrovertible proof The bondbolders should join in conferring auth upon the committee to contest the legality of such action. If this collateral can be recovered, these bunds do not need reorganization. All that they require is the collection of the property that belongs to thom. We are advised by counsel that belongs to them. We are advised by counsel that the proceeds of these securities can be receivered, and can be made to realize sufficient to pay and discharge the Kansas Pacific Commoditated hours at their face value. As the morigage upon the railroad and land grant is inadequate, it is vital to the interest of the bondholders to recover the diverted collateral assets. It is, nowaver, necessary that the action of the bondholders should be practically manimous in this essential matter. The Committee has there-fore, decided to second deposits of bonds with THE CONTINENTAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, and with the STATE STREET SAFE DEPOSIT AND TRUST COMPANY OF SOSTON, until July 20th, before adopt-ing appropriate me assures for compelling restitution to BILAS & DUTCHER.

KANSAS PACIFIC CONSOLIDATED BONDS.

DIVERSION OF TRUST SECURITIES
